Meet Scott Davis, Assistant Town Manager

Scott Davis is new to Farmville, but he's not new to local government. Davis has a diverse resume, including most recently serving as Director of Planning and Community Development for the City of Colonial Heights. He served as Mayor of Colonial Heights and also councilman. He has held various positions at Richard Bland College of William and Mary, including Chief of Police. He began the assistant town manager position in October; he and his wife, Suzanne, and their two children will be moving to Farmville in the upcoming year.

have shown. I was drawn to the town because it was a career advancement opportunity in a town that I felt my family and I would enjoy.

What is your favorite quote?

"There are many ways of going forward, but only one way of standing still." -FDR

"All our dreams can come true, if we have the courage to pursue them." -Walt Disney

"Think ahead. Don't let day-to-day operations drive out planning." -Donald Rumsfeld

What do you love most about Farmville? What drew you to the town?

I love the small town feel, historical character, main street business corridor, and the warm welcome people

"I love the small town feel, historical character, main street business corridor, and the warm welcome people have shown."

If you could witness any historical event (past, present or future), what would it be?

I look forward to continuing to watch my kids grow, become successful adults, and be parents.
