Meet Ashley Atkins-Austin

GIS Coordinator/Grant Administrator

How long have you worked for the Town?

I have been full-time with the Town for 14 years.

What do you do in your role for the Town?

GIS stands for geographic information system. As GIS Coordinator, I gather, maintain and analyze our mapping data. This data is a valuable resource used in many ways. Our 911 center has a visual map that plots the location of 911 calls. Our online parcel map shows property information for parcels located within our corporate limits. You can use this site to find out which zone or voting ward you are in. I also prepare maps that show Town streets, voting wards, leaf collection, garbage collection, recycling collection and zoning. The GIS office is responsible for addressing within the corporate limits.

I have recently started working on grants for the Town. I have enjoyed learning about this new task. It is amazing to see all of the background work it takes to create a new project for the Town.

What do you love most about Farmville?

I was born and raised in Farmville. I have always loved it here. Farmville is a small town, but there is always something to do. We have a lot of weekends where we cannot do all that we want to! I also like that there are constantly new people moving here. Just about every day you can meet someone new.

2018 Farmville Recreation Jingle Bell Run

On a crisp December morning, 118 participants set off from the First Avenue field to compete in the 2018 Jingle Bell Run 5K. The holiday spirit was infectious as runners dressed in their best and brightest festive attire. In addition to the race winners in each division, prizes were also awarded for the most festive costume, tackiest sweater, most festive pet and most festive duo.
